60. THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT

When God created man and woman, the freedom of persons was already established.

We are made in the image of God, African Americans, as well as all others. From one blood has God created all the races and nations of the earth.

Galatians declares that in Christ, regarding freedom and equality, there is no longer Jew or Greek, slave or free, male and female (Gal. 3:28).

Likewise, during the founding of the United States of America, the writers of our Constitution proclaimed human rights for all.

However, these rights were not granted to most African Americans.

In the 1950's and 60's, we experienced one of the proudest times in our history, the modern civil rights movement.

The promise of freedom, the vote, and equality, affirmed in the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments, became more achievable for African Americans.

We are thankful for Rosa Parks, Medgar Evers, James Farmer, and Fannie Lou Hamer. Nothing could quench their thirst for freedom. It was their time and they would not be denied.

The events associated with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Montgomery Bus Boycott, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and the Congress of Racial Equality have changed our lives.

During this time, Brown vs. The Board of Education, the NAACP, the March on Washington, the work of the National Urban League, the Black Church, and other religious communities united people against racial injustice.

Media coverage of the brutal treatment of black Americans awakened the conscience of America that led to the 1964 Civil Rights Act. We would not be moved even though confronted by police dogs and water hoses.

May God help us to exercise more seriously our right to vote and our pursuit of equality. God strengthen us in the ongoing struggle for freedom, civil rights, and justice.
