SEEING THE SALT 🧂

Salt is a staple in our kitchen. Not all salt is created equally. Keep in mind that a diet high in sodium is associated with an increased risk of high blood pressure and heart disease.

Over 70 percent of the salt in our diets comes from packaged foods; cooking at home is a great way to control your intake. Look at the August healthcare flyer to sort through the various salts to help you make choices for your meals—and well-being.
